

Wound Glue

Emergency Department factsheets

General information

Your wound has been closed with wound glue. The following points will help you to understand this new method of wound closure.

- Wound glue is a specialist medical adhesive which has been designed to close wounds and cuts. It can be used instead of conventional stitches or skin staples.
- The surface of a wound which has been closed using suture glue will look a little strange in relation to conventional stitches.
- The adhesive has been applied to the surface of the skin and may take on an irregular, crinkled appearance, even showing some minor surface cracking. This is quite normal and will not affect the function of the adhesive.
- The overall appearance can best be described as resembling a dry scab and should be treated like a scab – do not pick.
- The wound site should be kept dry for the first 48-72 hours.
- Excessive movement at the wound site should be avoided during this early period.
- Where there is a likelihood of continued trauma, you may use a clean, dry dressing to cover the wound site.
- The adhesive will come away from the skin of its own accord within 10 days, just like a normal scab. By this time the wound should be sufficiently healed. However in areas where the skin stretches, such as over joints, a wound tape should be applied for a further 3 weeks.
- The scar will take approximately six months to fade.
- Studies show that the use of suture glue results in the same or better cosmetic outcome for most minor wounds, so there is no increase in scarring with use of suture glue.

If your problem persists after seven (7) days, contact your General Practitioner or re-present to the emergency department.

Seeking help

In a medical emergency, go to the nearest hospital emergency department or call an ambulance (dial 000).

For other medical problems see your local doctor or health-care professional.

13 HEALTH (13 43 25 84) provides health information, referral and teletriage services to the public in all parts of Queensland and is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year for the cost of a local call*.

*Calls from mobile phones may be charged at a higher rate. Please check with your telephone service provider

Disclaimer: This health information is for general education purposes only. Please consult with your doctor or other health professional to make sure this information is right for you.

The general content of this factsheet have been reproduced with the permission of Darling Downs Hospital & Health Service.